

YOU WILL NEED:

VISUAL STUDIO CODE

OR OTHER TEXT EDITOR SUCH AS:

Sublime Text, UltraEdit, or Atom

...BUT it will be easier to follow along with VS Code! ☺

YARN (OR NPM)

For installing packages. Google to see how to install these on your device.

CREATE-BOOTSTRAP-REACT-APP

From the terminal (mac) or command-line (PC), you can download these packages using yarn add:

- yarn global add create-react-app
 - yarn global add create-bootstrap-react-app
- OR- you can use npm install:
- npm install --global create-react-app
 - npm install --global create-bootstrap-react-app

You need to install BOTH create-react-app AND create-bootstrap-react-app to use the latter!

STYLED COMPONENTS (2/2)

- Within VS Code, select the extensions icon in the left sidebar:

- Search for and install this vscode-styled-components package:
